

A vertical photograph of a misty, hilly landscape. In the foreground, there is a path made of dirt and small stones, leading from the bottom center towards the middle ground. The path is flanked by tall, dry, golden-brown grass on the left and greener grass on the right. In the background, rolling hills are visible, shrouded in a thick mist or fog that obscures the details of the landscape. The sky is a pale, uniform grey, suggesting an overcast day. The overall mood is quiet and contemplative.

RELYING ON GOD HAS TO BEGIN ALL OVER AGAIN
EVERY DAY AS IF NOTHING HAD BEEN DONE.
- C.S. LEWIS